PEKING M.D.'S DUBIOUS AS TO ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL PLAN

"Too Modest," Belief Of Rockefeller Officials

OTHERS APPROVE

Union College Too Elaborate, They Contend

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent of the China Press

Peking, March 15.—Experts of the China Medical Board and Union Medical College, interviewed upon their attitude regarding the project headed by St. John's University for the establishment of an inter-mission medical school at Shanghai to fill the need which the once projected Rockefeller school at Shanghai was to have filled, express grave doubt as to the success of any plan to found such an institution for a half million gold dollars or less, or to operate it for Gold $100,000 yearly.

They point out that this is less than one-tenth of the budget provided for the Union Medical College in Peking, and considerably less (one man estimated one-half) than the scale upon which the present Medical College of the Shantung Christian University at Tsinan—a union mission enterprise receiving assistance from the Rockefeller fund—is operating.

While highly commending the motives which inspire the scheme, these men are frank in deploring any let-down from the ideal that America, in giving philanthropic or scientific institutions to the needy nations of the world, should supply only the very best in equipment and personnel—that the second best should be allowed to wait until it can be made the best.

The "Rockefeller" men are not entirely destructive in their criticism. They suggest that if the project were placed upon an inter-collegiate rather than an inter-mission basis, the requisite support for the founding and maintenance of what they regard as a first-class institution could be found. The idea that scholastic institutions should conduct, from their endowment funds and income, or should, through their influence, arrange support for philanthropic work in more needy countries is becoming prevalent among American Universities and Colleges. Already some of the leading American schools are fostering and supporting mission work of an educative and medical type in China, Turkey and other countries. The nucleus from which it is hoped to develop the Shanghai Medical School is itself an enterprise of Pennsylvania and Harvard Universities.

There exist many wealthy educational institutions in America which have not yet engaged in "mission" enterprises, but which, believe the critics, could through effective campaigning, be pursuaded to co-operate in establishing and operating a medical school in Shanghai of the best type which America can provide, regardless of cost.

The conflicting opinions as to what kind of institutions should be operated in China, existent between the Union Medical College specialists and the promoters of the Shanghai project, are really the expressions of the differing viewpoints of the "specialised," as opposed to the "practical" missionary. Many of the latter type are free in their criticism of the tremendous expenditure of the Peking Union Medical College, maintaining that medicos who will be of great value to their suffering countrymen can be turned out with a much more modest staff and plant.

The architects' plans for the new American school have been completed by Messrs. Murphy and Dana, and were delivered yesterday to Chairman F. E. Doremus, of the school building committee. The plans were delivered on the day specified in the contract.

Building work on the new buildings will be started as soon as bids can be advertised and contracts accepted, which will require only a short time. It is not known exactly when the buildings will be completed and ready for occupancy, but the building work is not expected to take more than two years. The primary building will be ready for use with the beginning of the next fall term, in September.

Two new roads leading to the new school property, which is near the north end of Route Francis Garner, are being opened up and put in condition by the French Municipal authorities. They will be completed in a few weeks.

Park Union And Asia Banks, Here And In U. S., To Amalgamate April 1

Interchange Of Officials Will Be Brought About By Merger; Sigmund Metz To Be Manager For Far East

Definite announcement was issued yesterday that the Park Union Bank of Shanghai, which was opened in 1919 by the Park Union Bank of New York and the Union Bank of Canada, is being amalgmated with the Asia Banking Corporation. The affairs of the Park Union bank are being liquidated and the merger of the two big financial institutions is to be completed by April 1.

Since the opening of a Park Union Bank here it has maintained offices in New York and these, too, are to be transferred to the Asia Banking Corporation. While definite information concerning the Yokohama branch of the Park-Union Bank is lacking it is understood in financial circles here that this also is being absorbed by the Asia Banking Corporation. The banks in Shanghai and Yokohama were the only two branches opened in the Far East.

An interchange of officials is being brought about in the merger and a number of officials of the Park Union Bank have become members of the directorate of the Asia Banking Corporation.

Mr. G. A. Holder, who was President of the Park Union Bank has been named President of the Asia Banking Corporation and Mr. Charles Sabin, who was President of the Asia Banking Corporation, through the change, becomes Chairman of the Board of Directors. He also is Chairman of the directorate of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York which with the Bankers Trust Company holds controlling interest in the Asia Banking Corporation.

Mr. T. F. Aspeden, hitherto a Vice-President of the Park Union Bank, has become a Vice-President of the Asia Banking Corporation and Mr. Sigmund Metz, formerly Assistant Vice-President of the Guarantee Trust Company has been elected Vice-President and General Manager in the Far East of the Asia Banking Corporation.

Paris, March 16.—A Ministerial Decree places M. Philippe Berthelot on the retired list for a period of ten years.

Paris, March 16.—Although M. Philippe Berthelot has been placed on the retired Diplomatic list, he will retain his Ambassadorial title, pensions and rights. Moreover, he will reach the age limit before the ten years expire.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 17.—It appears that it took the Council of Discipline a long time to make up its mind as to the exact nature of M. Philippe Berthelot's intervention in the affairs of the Banque Industrielle de Chine. For four hours the members discussed the matter, before giving their opinion. Premier Poincare was not present at the final sitting, but the report was submitted to him, and he was responsible for the punishment imposed upon M. Berthelot.

Generally the suspension from duty is limited to period of five years, and the fact that M. Berthelot is suspended for ten years is taken to indicate that the Council took a serious view of the faults which he committed.

He was found guilty of committing imprudence, and of insufficiently differentiating his duties at the Foreign Ministry from the interest he took in the banque.

French Navy Men Urge Government To Build U-Boats

(Reuter's Service)

The Naval Commission is unanimously of the opinion that submarines should play a preponderating role in the future navy and propose to build 12 submarines each of 1,100 tons, carrying food for 30 days with a cruising capacity of 7,000 miles.

Kaiyosha Company Denies Right Of Chinese To Take Yangtsze Wharf Holding

Lease Was Renewable, It Contends In Answer To Report Defense Commissioner Would Seize Property Forcibly On Monday

Following publication of a report that the Chinese Defense Commissioner had been instructed by the Peking Foreign Office forcibly to take possession of the Yangtsze wharf at Pootung, which is now operated by the Kaiyosha Company, a Japanese concern, the Company caused to be issued yesterday a formal statement setting forth its position and asserting that it will continue to operate the wharf.

As stated in the original report, which was published exclusively in THE CHINA PRESS the wharf property formerly was operated by German interests and was one of the German properties in the Shanghai district that was taken over by the Chinese Government after the declaration of war on Germany.

LEASE IS GRANTED

After the seizure of the property it was leased by the Chinese Goverment to the Kaiyosha Company and it has been contended by the Government in recent negotiations that this lease expired last year and that under the terms of the Sino-German treaty concluded last year properties that were sequestered by the Chinese Government shall revert to their former owners.

Though the report was to the effect that the Defense Commissioner would seize the wharf on Monday, the Kaiyosha Company emphatically denies it has received any notification that this will be done. The Company contends that its lease on the wharf was renewable at its option. Its position is set forth in full in the following statement issued by its attorneys, Messrs. Ellis and Hays:

REVIEWS WHOLE CASE

"The Wharf was seized by the Chinese Government on the outbreak of war and by them let to the Kaiyosha Company upon terms which (inter alia) allowed the Company at their option to renew the lease from time to time.

"This option the Company wished to exercise at the end of the original term and were met by the Government with a complaint as to non-repair. The Company put forward statements showing that proper repairs had been made and the complaint as to them seems now to have been completely dropped for some time past.

"The Government then sought to justify its withdrawal of the option on the grounds of a clause in the lease permitting the Government to do so, if (to put it shortly) by reason of the terms of a treaty of Peace the government had to return the wharf to its original owners.

"We do not agree that under the terms of the Sino-German treaty of last year, the wharf is returnable to its original owners. On the contrary, it is the contention of the Kaiyosha Company that the treaty makes no such provision and that it is not with the object of returning the wharf to its original owners that the Government now seeks to obtain possession of it.

RETAINS POSSESSION

"The Kaiyosha Company maintains that no circumstance has arisen which entitles the government to withdraw the option to renew which it gave to the Company by the lease. It is the fact that the Company remains in possession of the wharf and there continues, claiming that they do so under an essential term, and one without which they would never have entered into the lease, and that they are entitled to do so.

"The dispute is being dealt with in Peking through diplomatic channels and it is hoped that a satisfactory solution may shortly be arrived at.

"The statement that the Company has been notified that the Government will seize the wharf on Monday next is wholly untrue and we are at a loss to understand how any report should have come to ascribe the intention of so doing to the Chinese Government. The question is one of contract, as if between individuals, and, without the very strongest evidence to that effect, it cannot be assumed that the government would, instead of seeking its legal remedy, of continuing the diplomatic negotiations, adopt the arbitrary methods which the published report anticipates."

JAPANESE VOTE HEAVIEST FOR 1922 COUNCIL

Sakuragi Leads List Of Nine New Members With Simms In Second Place

Less than half of the qualified electors of the International Settlement who number upwards 1,600 took part in the election for a new Municipal Council which closed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Ten candidates were in the field with nine councillors to be chosen and the result of the voting of the two days, as officially announced was as follows:

THE NEW COUNCIL

	Votes
S. Sakuragi	628
H. G. Simms	594
H. H. Girardet	589
A. B. Lowson	532
W. P. Lambe	530
V. G. Lyman	499
H. W. Lester	479
G. N. Wilson	325
S. Fessenden	273

The candidate who was not elected was Mr. A. J. Hughes. The total number of ballots cast was 752 of which eight were found by the judges to be irregular.

As was anticipated the heaviest poll was scored by the Japanese rate payers and the bulk of their ballots were cast on the first day of the election.

At the close of the voting yesterday the ballot box was turned over by Mr. E. L. Allen, Commissioner of Revenue to Mr. E. S. Benbow Rowe, Assistant Secretary of the Municipal Council who transferred it to the scrutineers, Messrs. E. C. Pearce and C. G. S. Mackie.

The count of the ballots then took place in the Council room.

Tung Endorsed For War On Grafters

(From a Staff Correspondent)

Peking, March 17.—Students, Chambers of Commerce, and business men's organisations throughout the country are rallying to the support of Tung Kang, Minister of Justice, in his effort to prosecute grafters. Many suggestions have reached the Minister of Justice that other departments equally deserved exposure.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 14.—Mr. Tung Kang, Minister of Justice and Chairman of the Loan Investigation Commission, called on the President this morning and in the course of conversation stated that he would not recede from the position he had taken up with regard to the loans. If the President wished for any other course he had better dismiss Mr. Tung from the Chairmanship of the Commission.

Many Chinese papers today have taken up the cudgels for Mr. Tung and demand that drastic measures should be taken against those who had mishandled the loans. Reviewing Mr. Tung's action on this matter they find that he has set an example that ought to be followed by all high officials and point out that if he is not supported the effect of the incident on the nation will be very bad.

MERGER OF EXCHANGES IS EXPECTED TO EASE TIEUP

Chartered Stock Pools With Gold And Silver Institution

SIGN PACT TODAY

Will Work Together, Shares Being Kept Separate

The Chartered Stock and Produce Exchange which was reported to be in difficulty some few weeks ago when it was forced to postpone its usual settlement day has just made a working agreement with the International Gold and Silver Currency Stock and Produce Exchange, Limited.

Under the terms of the agreement these two large stock exchanges will pool their capital and carry on business at the premises of the Chartered Stock and Produce Exchange at Szechuen Road and Avenue Edward VII. The shares of each company will be separate, however, and each company will have its own Board of Directors, but there will be three directors appointed by each company who will run the joint business. The agreement, which will be signed today, goes into effect April 1.

ONE OF FIRST HERE

The Chartered Stock and Produce Exchange was one of the first exchanges registered in Shanghai with the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce. It has a subscribed capital of $10,000,000, of which $5,000,000 has been paid up. It got into difficulties recently not through mismanagement or dishonesty, but because of ignorance of some of the technical details of stock exchange management. Several of the brokers connected with the exchange lost heavily and this caused a panic, but the company itself has made profits of more than $1,000,000. These are really book profits and are not immediately realisable in cash.

$20,000,000 CAPITAL

The International Gold and Silver Currency Stock and Produce Exchange, Limited, is a company that is registered at the Italian Consulate. It has a subscribed capital of $20,000,000 and a paid up capital of $6,000,000. This company, 6 months ago, purchased for taels 1,250,000 large premises, consisting of three six-story buildings at 9, 9a and 10 Hankow Road. It was the company's intention to demolish number 10, and rebuild it into a modern stock exchange with accommodations and offices for 250 brokers.

TO OPERATE JOINTLY

The Chartered Stock and Produce Exchange owns a large and commodious building at the corner of Szechuen Road and Avenue Edward VII. It is here that the joint business will be carried on after the working agreement between the two companies goes into effect. This agreement will result in a saving of running expenses for both companies and the International Gold and Silver Currency Stock and Produce Exchange, Limited, with its large resources, is expected to help the Chartered Stock and Produce Exchange out of its present financial difficulties.

NATAL DAY OF ST. PATRICK IS OBSERVED HERE

Sons And Daughters Of Erin Celebrate At French Club

The sons and daughters of Ireland—war torn turbulent Ireland—celebrated the birthday of St. Patrick, their patron Saint yesterday and last evening, and if Irish hearts were heavy with sorrow for the internecine strife that rends their native land, Irish faces shone and Irish blue eyes sparkled in honor of the Emerald Aisle's patron saint, on the seventeenth, his birthday.

The day's festivities culminated at a dinner dance last evening at the French club, at which the leading Irish citizens of Shanghai, with their wives, daughters and sweethearts gathered to do honor to the Emerald Isle's patron saint. At the dinner, at which Mr. J. J. Dunne, president of the St. Patrick's Society of Shanghai presided, toasts were drunk to the Erin, and voices rang with the songs so dear to the natives of that 'little bit of Heaven' which the angels 'sprinkled with stardust that shamrocks might be nourished there.'

After dinner the blue eyed sons and charming colleens of lovely Ireland convened to the ball room at the French club, where, between dances, there was a musical program of rare beauty and merit.

Of the many Irish songs that were sung, none so stirred the hearts of Irishmen and Irishwomen present as the rendition of that old, familiar Irish favorite, "A little bit of Heaven," by Mrs. G. E. Marden. Mrs. Marden has a beautiful voice, but never was it heard to greater advantage than in this song. Not of Irish blood herself, she seemed to essay the song with the idea that for a brief moment, at least, she would make the sons and daughters of Erin forget that their beloved native land is torn by civil strife. And, as strong and clear the words of the beautiful poem floated out Irish men and women in her audience—along with others that were not Irish—sat transfixed as tears ran down their cheeks, frankly and unashamed. There could have been no greater tribute to the singer's power—or to the intrinsic beauty of the words she pronounced—than this.

To Mr. Kirin Begdon belongs the credit for the really excellent musical program. Mr. Begdon was the guiding spirit of the whole singing and dancing program, and to say that all present enjoyed his work puts it mildly. The program follows:

Song—"The Wearing Of the Green," Mr. Haynes.
Song—"Irish Airs," Mrs. Laver.
Song—"The Dear Little Shamrock," Miss Francis Dunne.
Song—"A Little Bit of Heaven," Mrs. G. E. Marden.
Irish Figure Dance—Miss Helen Sherdan, Miss Meba Hill, and Mr Kirin Begdon.
Song—"Kathleen Mavoureen," Mrs. C. Barham.
Songs—Selected—Mr. Haynes.

At the dinner which preceded the musical and dancing program in the ball room the toast of the evening "The Immortal Memory of St. Patrick" was responded to by Mr. J. J. Dunne, President of the St. Patrick's Society of Shanghai, as follows:

"Wherever the far flung Irish race are to be found, this day will see them gathering together to commemute the festival of their Patron Saint. It is an often told story, that of his life. The date of his birth was about the year 389, but its place is disputed. Some historians give it as in the estuary of the Clyde at a place called, Kilpatrick, whilst others say Banwern in Glamorganshire.

"He was doubtless educated as a Christian. When he was about 16 years of age he was carried off by a band of Irish marauders who descended on the coast. When these marauders went out in their forays they were always accompanied by their Minshel, thus it was that the first sounds that greeted St. Patrick's ears were the strains that we are hearing tonight from our Piper. The Saint was carried away into captivity for six long years and had to work as a herdsman. Eventually he fled to the coast of Wicklow and encountered a vessel engaged in the export of Wolf Dogs. He persuaded the Captain to take him away, and landed in France, where he spent about 14 years, preparing for his mission of converting Ireland to Christianity.

"He then returned to Ireland where he planted the Faith in all directions, converted large numbers, formed 365 Churches and baptised over 12,000 people with his own hands. He banished from Ireland the snakes and other noxious reptiles. He died in the year 461, and is buried at Dounpatrick. In the reverence and love for their Patron Saint in which all Irishmen are united, let us hope for a similar Unity in all else that matters, with mutual forbearance, and generous liberality of sentiment. It is a duty that each one owes to his country, to banish dissension and to foster Unity. With Unity achieved, we may contemplate with confidence a new era for Ireland, one of contentment, happiness and prosperity.

"Before I sit down I should like to refer to the dancing that is about to take place. Modern dancing, I might mention, is mischievously described by that distinguished Irish writer, George Bernard Shaw as the "New Ethical Movement." Whilst these "new ethical movements" are in progress, and in the intervals, I would ask you to seek out one another and with opportunity to get acquainted. See to it that there are no wall flowers, and that everyone finds enjoyment."

HALT IS CALLED TO CLOSING UP OF POINT HOTEL

A halt was called in the proposed winding up of the affairs of the Point Hotel when attorneys representing three creditors appeared before Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Loh at the Mixed Court yesterday to oppose the proceedings.

Mr. P. W. Goldring, acting for Mr. F. Richmond, lessee of the property, asked that the hotel's affairs be wound up because the landlord had sealed the place up and there was no chance of cancelling the property's debts.

Mr. J. B. Schoenfeld, representing Mr. K. Assou, the largest creditor; Mr. L. K. Kentwell, representing a furniture company with a $650 claim, and Mr. M. B. Brown, representing three creditors with claims totaling $3,300, appeared to oppose the action.

Mr. Schoenfeld asserted that the hotel merely wished to wipe out debts accumulated during the winter so that the summer's profit from the resort would be clear.

"I can't understand why the place should be closed", he said. "The lease does not expire until October and all the creditors have signified their willingness to grant the lessee more time to pay his debts."

The Court remanded the hearing for two weeks to make an investigation of the affair.

Indian Moneylender Secures Judgment

Judgment was given in the British Supreme Court yesterday morning against A. H. Judge Peter Grain remarked that the defendant having been in his senses when he signed the document judgment for the $350 would be given, the interest, however, to cease immediately and payments to be made at the rate of $30 per month.

CONFAB LIMITS MEMBERSHIP TO EIGHT BODIES

Resolution To Include City Council Turned Down; Chekiang Man Peeved

Discussion of the advisability of admitting a City Council representative to the Conference on National Affairs occupied the session of the conference yesterday. The resolution favoring their admission was defeated. Mr. Li Tsing-fu, author of the resolution, representing Chekiang, threatened to withdraw but remained in his seat after the chairman, Huang Yen-pei, appeased his mind by asking him to be less sentimental about national affairs. Sixteen delegates attended the conference yesterday.

The Conference has now narrowed its membership down to eight classes of public bodies. They are the Provincial Assemblies, the Overseas Recognised Associations, the Chambers of Commerce, the Agricultural Associations, Labor Unions, Bar Associations, Bankers' Associations and Newspaper Associations.

EMMA GOLDMAN WISHES HERSELF ON POOR SWEDEN

Wants To Make Stockholm World's Anarchist Center

Stockholm, Feb. 13.—Sweden is facing a curious dilemma as the result of her well-meant hospitality in granting temporary asylum to Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman and Alexander Shapiro, formerly deported to Russia from the United States. Since this trio arrived, several other Russian anarchists have come into the country.

As matters stand at present Sweden may either have to deport the anarchists or cope with a movement, said to be on foot, of making Stockholm an international anarchist central.

But to what country can these anarchists be deported? Nobody wants them. Since their arrival in Stockholm, Emma Goldman and other anarchists from Russia have so roundly denounced the Soviet government that if they are returned thither, the Bolshevik authorities, never noted for their leniency, may send them all to jail or deal with them in a more summary fashion.

Germany has already put up the bars against these agitators as was shown recently when Miss Goldman tried to enter Germany for the purpose of attending the international anarchist congress in Berlin. Freund, Austria's representative to this conclave, was arrested on the border by the German police.

Now the Stockholm press states that a resolution was adopted at the Berlin anarchist congress to establish an international anarchist bureau in the Swedish capital, presumably because Stockholm is now the temporary abiding place of so many leading anarchist lights. The press emphasises that it would be most unfortunate if Sweden's hospitality should be abused by this making Stockholm an anarchist central and the same papers assert that energetic steps will be taken against any attempts of this character.

Three Are Charged As Armed Robbers

Three unemployed Chinese, one of whom was found in possession of a loaded revolver, appeared at the Mixed Court yesterday and were charged as being members of a gang of armed robbers. The men were arrested by Detective Inspector Cruickshank after information had been received from the Chinese police, who arrested a man in possession of arms in Chinese territory. One of the trio was captured in a house at 65 Hwakee Road. A loaded revolver was found under his pillow. The other two were arrested at 246 East Seward Road. The case was remanded for two weeks by Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li in order to allow further investigation.

Annual Report Shows Unprecedented Gain In Permits For Buildings

Tls. 21,000,000 Of New Construction Started In 1921, Says Summary Of Department Of Public Works; Contractors Come In For Criticism

Building activity in the International Settlement in the year 1921 reached a new high mark, according to the report of the Department of Public Works which has just been issued as Part II of the report of the Municipal Council.

The total value of new buildings for which permits were issued in the year is estimated in the report at Tls. 21,000,000 and at the end of the year when the report was compiled there were 614 blocks of buildings being erected. The average number of new buildings under construction throughout the year was 490. Included in the buildings erected in 1921 were 235 foreign dwellings. Permits issued in the year numbered 5,344 as against 3,542 issued in the preceding year. New buildings erected in the year were: Chinese houses, 4,064; foreign buildings, 68; foreign residences, 15; godowns, 55; stables and garages, 61; work sheds, 113; miscellaneous, 709; mills and factories, 41. Plans submitted by former were 648; by Chinese 941.

CRITICISE CONTRACTORS

Criticism is voiced of the unsatisfactory manner in which contractors, on the whole, carried out their cnntracts.

"They have, of course, had difficulties to contend with in respect both to labor and materials," says the report, "but they appear to have put forth little effort to meet the unusual conditions caused by the unprecedented activity in building work. For the most part, a contractor has little control over the labor he employes or the supply of material used. Subletting, too, takes place to a vicious extent, and it is extremely difficult to get to the root of industrial unrest, except that due to obvious economic conditions of supply and demand, housing, transport, and the increased cost of vital commodities."

At one period of the year, the report sets forth, out of an average unskilled labor force of 6000, two-thirds were employed on a daily basis with pay ranging from 32 to 38 cents paid in subsidiary coinage. The average number of unskilled laborers employed by the department was some twenty-five percent more than ever before.

There is not a single wooden bridge over Soochow Creek which is not in need of reconstruction, the report asserts, both for the convenience of road traffic by widening and improvement of approach gradients, and for the conservancy and navigation of the creek by reduction of the number of piers in the fairway. The unsatisfactory condition of the navigable creeks remains a matter of concern, particularly in regard to Soochow Creek. On several occasions during the past year, this creek has been blocked for two or three tides, thus seriously interfering with the movement of general cargo, etc. Much improvement would result from extensive dredging operations.

Widening of certain well defined and some new routes to the extent of about six miles is advocated. It is not improbable that in fifteen years' time the Settlement will be the center of a population of 2,500,000, says the report, and it is the view of the writer that the only means of reasonably meeting the additional traffic which this population will surely bring into the central area is by proceeding with the widening. Such a course would cost something like Tls. 5,000,000, would take perhaps ten years to carry out, and would affect approximately 250 cadastral lots.

Good progress is reported with the Central District Sewerage Works east of Honan Road. The pumping sets will be shipped early this year, and the construction of the pump chambers will be proceeded with so soon as the designs are completed. It is anticipated that the sewers and the treatment works will be in operation before the end of the year. It will then be possible to abolish a large number of cesspools and effect some improvement in dealing with the remainder which now tax the existing vacuum tank wagons beyond their capacity.

"Criticism has been made in respect to the use of concrete pipes, owing to the failure of concrete pipe sewers elsewhere," the report continues. "There have been some failures of concrete pipe sewers, but, just as in the case of failure of reinforced concrete structures, such failures can always be traced to wrong design, improper material, bad workmanship or a combination of all three. While no comparison is made with glazed stoneware pipes, it is unhesitatingly stated that a satisfactory sewerage system for Shanghai can be constructed of cement concrete pipes, and substantial economy over the use of other piping fully justifies their use."

FAMILY OF AIR PILOT IS GIVEN GIFT OF $3,000

Technical Advisor Has No Hope For Future In Air Service, Resigns

(China Press Service)

Peking, March 17.—A gift of $3,000 has been given to the family of the late Lieut. Sun Chofung, killed while piloting an avro over the Nanyuan aerodrome early this month, by the Aeronautical Department. Although this is the first fatality in the air history of China, there have been no less than three serious accidents since the beginning of this year in Peking.

The Peking Chamber of Commerce, as a result, has petitioned the Government not to allow airplanes to fly over the capital any more.

Colonel F. V. Holt, technical expert of the department, has tendered his resignation and will sail for England shortly. He has pronounced the future of aeronautics in China as absolutely hopeless due to the politics that is involved in the service.

Central Firemen Establish Record For Fast Turnout

A record for prompt turnout of a fire division was established by the Central Division of the Shanghai Fire Brigade last night, when in answering a call to a small blaze in Ningpo Road, four fire fighting machines, with more than thirty officers and men were clear of the Station house and en route to the fire in 19 seconds.

The call was received at 7:09 p.m. Within four seconds the first machine was out of the Station. In 15 seconds more the three remaining machines of the Division equipment were under way. Central Division men state that the record will stand for some time, not only in Shanghai, but almost anywhere else.

Chop Forger Gets Eighteen Months

Charged with using a forged chop of the manager of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company in order to lend weight to a begging letter, a Chinese who gave his occupation as that of a broker was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday.

The accused presented the letter to one Lieu Ong-sung, who happened to know the manager's chop and recognised the one used as a fraud. He notified the manager and on the latter's arrival the accused was arrested. Detective Sergeant Yorke stated to the court that a book found in the captive's possession contained the names of many rich merchants here.

HERE is a fac-simile of an unsigned love letter, in cipher, found in the effects of William D. Taylor, slain motion-picture director. The key to the code is shown below the letter, which indicates the writer's deep love for Taylor. The letter reads:

"What shall I call you, you wonderful man? You are standing on the lot, the idol of an adoring company! You have just come over and put your coat on my chair. I want to go away with you, up in the hills, or anywhere, just so we'd be alone—all alone—in a beautiful little woodland lodge. You'd be the cook (as I can only make tea) and fetch the water and build the fire.

"Wouldn't it be glorious to sit in a big, comfy couch by a cozy, warm fire, with the wind whistling outside, trying to harmonise with the faint, sweet strains of music coming from the Victrola? And then you'd have to get up and take off the record. Of course, I don't mean that, dear. Did you really suppose I intended you to take care of me like a baby?

"Oh, no! For this is my part: I'd sweep and dust (they make the sweetest little dustcaps, you know) and tie fresh ribbons on the snowy white curtains and feed the birds and fix the flowers, and—oh, yes, set the table and help you wash the dishes, and then in my spare time I'd darn your socks."

Ask Hospitality For Delegates To Attend Big Christian Confab

Shanghai Residents Being Asked To Open Homes To Visitors Who Will Assemble Here On May 2

Preparations are well under way for the National Christian Conference, the second largest conference of its kind in the world, which is to be held at the Town Hall here from May 2 to 11 and the Shanghai community is at present being canvassed to extend the hospitality of its homes to the 600 missionary delegates and visitors from abroad who will attend the meetings.

In this canvass the British Women's Association is represented by Mrs. W. B. Billinghurst and Miss Elwin; the American Women's Club by Mrs. F. R. Sites and Mrs. A. P. Parker; the Cathedral by Mrs. A. L. Hall; the Community Church by Mrs. C. H. Lavers; the free Christian Church by Mrs. A. G. Parrott; the Union Church by Mrs. N. A. Viloudaki.

IS FINE OPPORTUNITY

Each one of these is soliciting hospitality among the homes of the organisation she represents. An encouraging response is being given. It is pointed out that this affords a splendid opportunity for these who live and work on the fringe of China to get into intimate touch with those who live in the interior cities and through them get glimpses of the life and social currents away from the foreign concessions. Many of these delegates are headmaters of preparatory schools, presidents of colleges, superintendents of hospitals, ecclesiastical leaders, and men and women who are leaders in the great movements which are transforming China.

Many homes have received cards requesting cooperation in entertaining these guests and the Hospitality Committee is desirous to have the replies as early as possible so that hostess and guest may be acquainted with their assignment. Possibly some readers have friends who may be among the delegates and a card of inquiry can be addressed to the Secretary of the Hospitality Committee, Mr. A. R. Kepler, 61 Range Road. Those who are willing to assist in providing hospitality should inform the Hospitality Committee through any one of the representatives of the organisations above mentioned or the letter may be addressed to Mr. A. R. Kepler direct.

HONORARY HOSTS NAMED

The following have consented to serve as honorary hosts and hostesses of the foreign delegation to the Conference:

Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul General; Hon. E. S. Cunningham, American Consul General; A. Brooke-Smith, Esq., Chairman Municipal Council; T. E. Doremus, Esq., President American Association; Dr. W. T. Findley, President American Club; the Rev. Luther Freeman, D. D., Pastor Community Church; Mrs. E. M. Gull, President British Women's Association; V. G. Lyman, Esq., President American Chamber of Commerce; E. T. Mackay, Esq., President British Chamber of Commerce; H. C. Norman, Esq., President The Rotary Club; Mrs. F. J. Raven, President American Women's Club; the Rev. A. Norman Rowland, A. M., Pastor Union Church; Very Rev. C. Symons, Dean Holy Trinity Cathedral; A. J. Welch, Esq., Acting President Shanghai Club.

Films Are Menaced In Morning Blaze

Valuable moving picture films of the Pathe-Orient Company narrowly escaped destruction in a fire that was discovered early yesterday in the premises at 14 Tientsin Road.

The Central fire division responded to the call and managed to confine the damage to the hong it started in after a hard fight. The Pathe-Orient godown, one of largest cinema storage places in China, was saved through the fire department's quick work and property damage rendered negligible by the firemen's covering of all property in the structure.

The Central division also answered a telephone call from a foreign lady at 5:17 o'clock when she noticed smoke pouring from the windows of the Shanghai Waterworks Company, 67 Kiangse Road. A coolie building the morning fires had allowed the chimneys to become stuffed and smoke filled the offices.

Chapei firemen fought a fire in the rear of the China Electrical Company's works near the Stone Bridge. Several matsheds and houses were burned.

CHARGE TWO MEN WITH MURDER OF POLICE OFFICER

A cook and an unemployed coolie were charged in the Mixed Court yesterday as being concerned in the murder last Wednesday night of Chinese Police Constable No. 1063, who was shot to death by one of a band of four armed robbers on Tongshan Road.

One of the men, according to the police testimony, writes a hand similar to that used in inditing a threatening letter to the Tongshan Road shopkeeper whose place was visited just before the shooting. He denies having had anything to do with it but states that the other accused did have something to do with the case. Both are acquaintances of the shopkeeper. The threatening letter, and also one bearing on the case and received at Wayside police station, were handed into Court, Assessor Hutchison commenting that the author must have been mad. The letters were posted at Loonghwa, where one of the accused lives. The case was remanded for two weeks pending further inquiries.

LITERARY DEP'T, A.W.C., CHOOSES YEAR'S OFFICERS

The Literary Department of the American Woman's Club elected its officers for the year at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Royal Asiatic Society. Following the report of the Nominating Committee presented by Mrs. W. F. Beaman the following were elected:

Chairman, Mrs. W. W. Bartlett.

1st Vice-Chairman, Mrs. H. A. Wilbur.

2nd Vice-Chairman, Mrs. G. C. Stockton.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. P. Roberts.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. C. G. Peeler.

Treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Davies.

Librarian, Miss Gertrude Oldroyd.

Committee: Mesdames H. K. Wright, W. F. Beaman, Philip Dunbar, J. J. Brenneman, Harrison King, H. S. Dickerson, Misses Leila Tuttle, Sarah Bosworth and Erma Reynolds.

Prefacing the election the retiring Chairman, Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, made a most impressive although informal address, stressing the ideals of the department and asking for loyal services to it and to the club at large. The department voted unanimously to reconsider its previous action with regard to the meeting time and to change from 4:30 to 5 for future gatherings beginning at once.

This will enable many of the department's members who have business engagements till five to be present for the entire meeting. It was announced that the program at the next meeting of the club, Tuesday, March 21 would be provided by the Literary Department and that Mr. Charles Kliene would give readings from Chinese mythology. Mr. Kliene's stories of the "Land of the Peach-bloom" and "The Cowherd and the Spinning Maid" were most popular and the department congratulates itself on securing him for its representative.

Mrs. Harrison King, of St. John's University, gave a most valuable paper on "Ancient Chinese Bronzes," dealing with specimens dating from B. C. 2205 to 255 B. C. Much of the history of the Chinese, Mrs. King stated, may be found from a study of the bronzes, since important inscriptions were entrusted to the keeping of these durable records.

The Chinese used ideographs to convey the ideas of man and pictorial representations to reproduce outside objects, but even in their so-called natural art the picture of the human figure never occurs, vegetables are rarely represented, portraits of clouds, hills and animals are rare but mythological animals of all descriptions are found and even the dragon in an undeveloped form.

The early artisan in bronze was a man of some distinction and his work was done with loving care, all the lines fine and distinct, with no blurs. The proportion of copper and tin was carefully studied to get the properties for the varied uses and the highest artistic genius of the time went into these early bronzes. Many pictures of these beautiful antiques were shown by means of a reflectoscope.

Double Funeral Given Constables Shot By Outlaws

Thousands Throng Streets To Witness Procession For Fallen Policemen

With the streets thick with spectators, the double funeral procession in honor of the two Chinese constables killed by armed robbers during the early part of this week took place yesterday. More than a thousand members of the International Settlement and French Police forces participated. Practically every officer and all the men of the force not on duty turned out to pay their last tribute to the men who sacrificed their lives for the community. A section of the Fire Brigade also participated.

The two victims were Constable Woo Vee-tseu, Number 438, attached to Wayside who met his death on Monday night and Constable Za Yien-sun, Number 1063, attached to the same station who was killed on Wednesday night at Tongshan Road.

A number of tablets were presented by colleagues of the deceased, while the Fire Brigade sent beautiful floral tributes. The coffins were drapped with the municipal colors. Mounted Sikh troopers, a band, detective officers, police officers, Taoist monks and constables constituted the impressive procession. The cortege left the Fearon Road Mortuary at 2 o'clock.

The route followed Fearon Road, Range Road, Haining Road, Honan Road, Nanking Road, Bubbling Well Road, Tamsui Road and French Concession. The coffins will remain in the Chihli Guild until a lucky day is picked for the burial.

Racing Today Promises Good Sport For Public

Conditions On Entrants Leave Fields Fairly Evenly Matched

The Shanghai Race Club opens its spring season today with its first extra meeting. Nine races are listed, including one hurdle, one steeplechase, three handicaps and four other races. Some of Shanghai's best horses are entered. The card on the whole is not of champion class, but requirements for the racing leave the fields fairly grouped, and much good racing should result.

The first race is a hurdle for all China ponies, but with winners of former hurdle races barred. Many good ponies are entered. The steeplechase also bars winners of former races of the class, with the added stipulation that only riders who have won less than two such races may go out as mounts. Such conditions apply in nearly every event.

The class of the card will be the seventh race, the Gosforth Park Handicap, "A" Class, in which such ponies as Petersfield, Thomas a Becket, Old Bill, Mountain King, Tyneside and Maresfield are entered. There are eighteen ponies entered, all good, and all competent to force a race that should have all of the running class of a Champions.

The "B" Class of the Gosforth Park Handicap, and the final event, the Sandown Park Stakes have larger fields of ponies of good class, and are certain to give the public some cause to think in the selection of winners.

The first race will be run at 1:30 o'clock.

AM'N OARS HIKE 30 MILES FROM HENLI TOMORROW

An innovation in training for local oarsmen will be instituted tomorrow when about twenty members of the American squad will hike from Henli, the up-river point where regattas are held spring and fall, and where most of week-end training is done, to Shanghai, a distance of some 30 miles. The hike will mark the introduction of road work into the training schedule of local oarsmen.

It was previously expected that the American squad would make the hike from Shanghai to the rowing site tomorrow morning, but later arrangements were made to meet at the Shanghai Nanking Railway Station at 9 a.m., take the 9:30 express for Henli, go through their first up-river training on the water, and return afoot.

It is expected that tomorrow's hike will be the first of several before the spring regatta, and also that road work will be an important feature in the training of every squad from now on.

JACK DEMPSEY AND STRANGLER LEWIS TO MEET

Two Champions Will Show World Supremacy In Self Defense

Nashville, March 16.—Billy Sandow, manager for Strangler Lewis, world champion heavy weight wrestler, deposited his check for $50,000 with the sporting editor of the Nashville Banner in connection with a challenge to Jack Dempsey for a mixed match.

It will be a fight to a finish, Dempsey to enter ring with bare fists and be permitted either to wrestle or box. Lewis would be confined to wrestling. Sandow said that the challenge was issued to prove that wrestling was superior to boxing as a means of self defense. He said he was willing to bet that Lewis would finish Dempsey within twenty minutes.

Manager Kearns has taken up the challenge on behalf of and said that Dempsey was ready to meet Lewis either straight boxing or a mixed fight.

Sporting Editor's Letter Box

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS AND THE SHANGHAI PUBLIC

The Football Team of Futan College wish to extend their most sincere thanks to the local football clubs of Shanghai for so kindly joining us in many friendly games during the season of 1921. Besides giving us much pleasure it afforded us fine practice and excellent training and enabled us to win the reputation of being one of the best teams in the local field.

We greatly appreciate the kindness of all these Clubs and earnestly hope the friendship which already exists between us may be greatly strengthened by many more games not only during the coming season, but in future years as well.

We also wish to thank Mr. J. A. Quayle most heartily for his deep interest in our team, and the valuable coaching he gave us which is deeply appreciated not only by the students composing the team, but by the whole student-body of Futan University.

Yours truly,
"FUHTAN."

Shanghai, March 17, 1922.

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS:

Dear Sir.—With regard to the last year Football Championship of the E.C.I.A.A., will you permit me as the Manager of the Football Team to express our disappointment that Fuhtan was not a sharer in the Championship Title awarded to St. John's, Nanyang and the Shanghai Baptist College.

We had an exceptionally fine team, and in games played with the Police and the Customs won both by a score of 3-0. We also played a drawn game with the team from H.M.S. Titania which is considered the best naval team in the Far East., we were beaten by a score of 3-1.

In the Inter-collegiate games we won from Nanking Teachers' college on Dec. 15 and tied in another game with the University of Nanking on Dec. 17, which game we counted as won inasmuch as Nanking failed to replay the game with us, and in doing this we followed the precedent set by Nanking College.

We had also arranged a game with Soochow to be played on Dec. 21, but received a telegram from their team saying, "No game, don't come." This game we also counted as ours according to the rules of the E.C.I.A.A. as we had previously proved to them by a physician's certificate that the possible case of smallpox which had been reported at the college had been wrongly diagnosed and was merely a cold.

After receiving the Committee's decision we immediately wrote to St. John's to arrange our game with them and offered them any date they preferred between Dec. 26 and the 31st. The Captain of the St. John's Team answered that Dec. 24 was their only available day, but this was impossible for us, as it would make four championship games for us to play in nine days, and would you not consider that too many?

We especially regretted not playing with St. John's as our chance to win the championship would have been improved even if we had lost to them, as we had already won the three games, mentioned above, and we were standing on the same rank with the three teams that shared in the Championship, namely, Nanyang, St. John's, and the Baptist College.

It really seems as if all the various colleges, playing in a League like the Shanghai Football Association should have the chance to play with every other member of the Association, or else arrange to play in a competition similar to the Skottowe Cup Tourney, and do you not think it would be a fine thing if all the games could be arranged by the Committee, instead of by the colleges themselves? This would ensure each college having a chance to test its skill against every other member of the League.

Thanking you sincerely for your kindness and courtesy in this matter.

Yours very faithfully,
Y. L. HU.
The Manager.

COAL MINERS IN U.S. THREATEN TO STRIKE APRIL 1

Other Unions Promise Support In General Walk-out

(China Press Service)

Washington, March 16.—Secretary of Labor Davis was visited again today by President D. J. Lewis of the miners union. No hope of a settlement to avert the strike impending April 1, was held out by either after the conference.

Lewis said that the operators were solely to blame for forcing the strike.

"The unions are willing to negotiate the wage difficulty, but the owners will not hear of it," he stated.

Washington, March 16.—The United States is now on the verge of what promises to be the greatest and hardest fought strike in her history since all efforts to avert the walkout of the miners in the bituminous coal areas have proved unavailing.

Other labor union leaders have declared their intention to back up the miners to the last dollar in their treasuries and straw votes of their membership show a determination to plunge the nation into a general strike in case the miners' demands are not met.

Contrary to most other strikes, the miners have set April 1 as the date for their action so that the general public will not suffer greatly through lack of coal since the union officials have recognised that adverse public opinion, sprung from personal suffering, has caused the collapse of former efforts to improve conditions in the bituminous mining industry.

Hopes of those not directly concerned have been expressed that some settlement or a basis leading to an adjustment between the miners and coal operators could be reached at the conference between the labor leaders and government officials, but this, it is reported is on the point of failure due to the "yield nothing" spirit of the mine owners.

RAKUSEN CASES ARE POSTPONED IN BRITISH COURT

In the suit in which the Central Garage sued C. P. Fakusen for Tls. 500 and $120 for repairs done to his motor car, Mr. Reader Harris yesterday morning applied to Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court to pay into Court Tls. 188 and $105, mentioning that Mr. Rakusen was suffering from appendicitis, and would soon have to go to hospital. The amount that counsel was willing to pay into Court constituted, according to defendant, the amount really due. Mr. Harris asked for an adjournment.

Judge Peter Grain remarked that he himself had appendicitis which gave him a fellow-feeling for the defendant, but the business of the Court had been often interrupted by the non-appearance of the defendant.

The application for adjournment was granted, following an affidavit by the counsel for defendant that there was a defence.

In another suit brought by Mr. E. A. Elias against S. Rakusen and Co., Mr. Reader Harris also asked for an adjournment and said he was paying into Court $60, being the salary due to the plaintiff for the month he worked. The defendant contested the other claim for a month's salary in lieu of notice, claiming that the plaintiff left of his own accord.

Plaintiff denied this, and the Judge granted an adjournment for three weeks.

BOMB IN TOKIO

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, March 17.—Nijubashi Bridge, the famous approach to the main Palace gates, was the scene of a sensational incident this afternoon.

A Japanese, dressed as a coolie, crossed the bridge and passed through a small gate at the main entrance. Challenged by the sentry he cried: "It is dangerous to approach me."

The sentry stepped out towards the man, who fell and a bomb, which was concealed on his person, exploded, blowing him to pieces. His identity is unknown.

EXPECT TO END HOSPITAL CASE NEXT MONDAY

Further testimony was taken at the British Supreme Court yesterday in the action for Tls. 41,336 brought against the Shanghai General Hospital by the contractor, Wong Kur-sun, and the hearing was adjourned until Monday, when it is expected it will be concluded.

Concluding evidence for the plaintiff was adduced at yesterday's hearing, after which Mr. S. J. Halse, architect, gave testimony for the defense. Mr. Halse told of the extra work which he gave plaintiff on the hospital extension and stated that he did not consider the work satisfactory, which led to the trouble between them. The delay of construction work, he said was due to Wong's neglectful attitude. Mr. Halse denied pushing the contractor out of his office but said that he led the plaintiff out after the latter had assumed an offensive attitude. Wong had presented accounts, he testified, containing items which had nothing to the work assigned.

Mr. R. C. Turner, architect to the Municipal Council and a member of the hospital works committee, also testified, stating that in his opinion the work done by the contractor was satisfactory.

Tokio Government Sustained By Diet

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, March 16.—After a discussion lasting six hours, a vote of non-confidence in the Government was defeated by 254 to 141.

Tokio, March 16.—In the Diet today, the members of the Opposition in the Lower House are proposing an impeachment of the Government on the general lines of its policy.

Admiral Baron Kato's return has been the occasion of a revival of interpellations of the Government's policy at Washington, especially in the House of Peers, which is now considering the Budget.

The Naval Minister, replying to a question, stated that the Government did not intend to increase materially the present program of the building of submarines and auxiliaries and that it was willing to reduce its expenditure as low as possible.

He declared that considering the success of the Conference, it was essentially advantageous to the interests of Japan to attempt to secure an agreement on naval ratios in a spirit of concession, for which reason he proposed the inclusion in the Agreement of the Philippines fortifications, which he regarded as one of the conditions of Japan's acceptance, rather than the Quadruple Agreement, which, while it was a factor in the preservation of peace, was not regarded as very essential.

Japanese Want Drastic Army Cuts

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, March 17.—With regard to the plan for the reduction of Japan's land forces announced by the military authorities at the Disarmament Committee meeting of the House of Representatives, public opinion in Japan takes the view that the plan in question is too inconsistent to be looked forward to and asserts that the Disarmament Committee should be more thorough-going.

Commenting on the assertion on the part of Lieutenant General Yamanashi, Minister of War, that in view of the unrest of political state of affairs in Russia and Siberia, the fighting strength of the army should of necessity be maintained, the Tokio Nichi Nichi, in the course of its editorial today, writes to the following effect:

"At this time when the League of Nations, the Naval Treaty, and the Four Powers Agreement have been concluded, the War Minister's assertion is fundamentally erroneous. When Japan is claiming the right of her peaceful existence, that she is still preserving a big army is a great setback to the principle of her claim."

How to Write Classified Advertisements

Looks like a "cinch;" but is it? For 25 years have I written and prepared both magazine and newspaper copy in display space, says F. A. Partenheimer in the Bumblebee, with gratifying results to my employers and clients; and have yet to lose an account for any other reason than "retirement from business."

But it took a simple 32-word classified ad to bring yours truly "off his high horse" and teach a fundamental truth that applies to all kinds of advertising, I firmly believe—display or otherwise.

Having a new hot water heater installed in my home, I thought it would be an easy matter to sell the old one; so I simply described it thus in the "Stoves and Furnaces" classified columns of our best local "want medium," and said:

FOR SALE—Mott "Sunray" hot water boiler, suitable for heating green house. Can be seen any day except Sunday at 61 Harvard street.

Did it bring replies? Certainly; but all the green-house men remarked, "If it was only larger," etc. However, they all agreed it was a bargain at the price asked. I changed the copy by stating "suitable for small flat," and still no action. Then the thought came that if I told in print just what the heater had accomplished in my own home I might get more eager response, and I did from this:

FOR SALE—Hot water heater that will keep six rooms at 80 degrees on five tons of coal all winter long.

That was just what a lady who wished to comfortably heat three rooms and a bath had been searching for, so the heater met ready sale and the ad had to be cancelled after the first insertion.

And the moral is that people are always more interested in the exact benefit your goods will be to them, than in what they are made of or who they're manufactured by; and I firmly believe that there's many an ad writer, just like me, that's "never too old to learn." I am going to try out the next proposition I tackle on a $10 investment in classified advertising instead of the usual hundreds of dollars experimental investment in display space, and from this expect to get "the proper angle of approach." I know it can be done quickly so there will be no doubt about the larger appropriation. We will know just where we are at before we begin. Don't you think this is true? Believe me, those classified readers are the shrewdest buyers you can tackle—so why not begin on them?

Industrial Leader Here Talks To Rotarians On Business Outlook In U. S.

Business conditions in the ited States were discussed Thurs- y at the weekly tiffin of the anghai Rotary Club by Mr. E. Kilbourne, Vice-President and neral Manager of the Westing- use Electric Company who is a itor here. Not until industries nerally reduce their labor per- nnel and cut costs in every her possible way will the coun- y recover from the present ump, is the view he advanced.

Mr. Kilbourne asserted that ere is little tangible evidence support the claim that busi- ss conditions are better in erica. "The atmosphere is tter," he said, "and financiers e approaching problems with fferent ideas than those pre- iling some months ago."

The speaker continued: "While is presumed that we have gone rough hard times, there is lit- e outward evidence of this as en in the social life of the eople, for the theaters and musement places are still doing ig business and there have not een wholesale decreases in rices, particularly of manu- actured goods.

"The country itself is in plendid financial condition as are he business houses which have eathered the storm. But com- anies are not using their capital n their business, nor in labor and roduction for the reason that ompanies are not getting new usiness.

"Foreign trade of the United tates is better and on a more ubstantial basis. This trade was orced on American business men y the war and there is one anger, that of estimating future usiness on war-time trade esults.

"Farmers of the country are roducing relatively the same mount as during the war but for his they are receiving only half he dollars. The tonnage is the ame and the returns have been ut fifty percent. Thus industry s unbalanced for the average ndustrial output is relatively less n tonnage while the prices are ractically the same as those which prevailed before the war. The farmer is not buying and the industrial man cannot live with- out the farmer.

"Labor has yet refused to liquidate and the only solution for the big firm is to reduce his labor and cut expenses. Difficulty is apparent when one big com- pany waits for another to start this program. It must be co- operative and will be effective. Competition, the great leveller, is absent for with the country not buying, there is no competition."

The speaker saw another solu- tion in the increase of America's foreign trade.

Mr. Kilbourne, in speaking of American labor conditions, lauded the prohibition law as "a step in the right direction." "Prohibi- tion has come to stay in America," he said.

India's Budget Is Ruthlessly Cut

(Reuter's Service)

Delhi, March 15.—In accord- ance with the policy it has adopted of the collective re- duction of five percent on each item of the Budget but leaving the Government to settle the exact direction in which such saving can be effected, the De- mocratic Party in the Assembly today continued its cutting pro- cess.

Reductions of five percent were carried on salt, opium, land revenue and stamps. The forestry estimates alone were spared. There was a strong demand that stamps should be manufactured in India instead of in England.

Mr. Gour, the leader of the Democratic Party, said that the Democrats would continue their policy unless they received an undertaking from the Govern- ment that it would carry out a total reduction of five percent in all the civil departments.

After a brisk discussion, in which the Indianisation of rail- ways was strongly urged, the Assembly reduced the railway vote by twenty-five lakhs with the consent of the Government and the telegraph and postal vote by ten lakhs, thus making the total reductions by the two days' debates of fifty-five lakhs.

Pershing Fearful Of Army Slashes

(China Press Service)

Washington, March 15.—The Appropriation Committee's pro- posal to cut the army roused Per- shing to a renewed declaration that the whole national defense prospect formulated in 1920 would be imperiled if Congress accepts the proposals of the Appropriations Committee.

He stated that the success of that "sound military policy and system of national defense" depended upon adequate provision for the army. He declared that "another critical hour for the army is at hand."

Pershing did not directly men- tion the proposal to reduce over- seas garrisons but made clear that the War Department does not believe that the forces in Hawaii and Panama can safely be reduced. He said that there is no thought in the War Department of reducing the Philippine garrison until the Disarmament Conference treaties are put into effect.

Life is built upon realities, not romance; this is the theme of "The Foolish Virgin," Thomas Dixon's famous novel that has been screened as Miss Clara Kimball Young's second Selz- nick-Picture offering. The story deals with a young girl whose ideas of life are founded on the romantic works of fiction which she is so fond of reading. She is deceived into marrying a man with criminal tendencies who, possessed of a lust for money becomes a burglar.

Her efforts to redeem the man she loves lead to many intensely dramatic situations with a powerful climax.

The Chinese Political Stage

BY JOSEF W. HALL

STILL "No Show!" The public, it is to be feared, will tire of this squabble between producers which has prevented the raising of the curtain since the night that it dropped upon the scene of Liang Shih-yi's entrainment for Tientsin, and will begin to look elsewhere for divertissement. Indeed, several promoters, encouraged by the situation, are attempting to capture an audience from among those who miss the thrills and comedy usually provided by the Peking stage.

One such attempt is at present being made in Shanghai. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in procuring a full cast of actors, and the public is beginning to lose hope as the date for the opening performance is repeatedly postponed. Nevertheless, the promoters of the Shanghai People's Conference are on the right track. In their calculation that Peking's collapse is the provinces' opportunity they have made no mistake. But there is much more to the show business than a clear field. The new entrepreneurs have to learn through failures how, when, and through what actors, to capture the public eye.

The endeavor being made at Shanghai to call together the newly-formed vocational organisations, such as the Bankers' Association, the Press Union, the Educational Societies, the Chambers of Commerce and (these come without calling) the Labor Guilds, is deserving of every serious consideration. In the conscious, coordinated attention of these bodies to the problems of governmentation lies the chief prospect of the triumph of the people over Peking. If they fail to coordinate for political ends Peking—and all it stands for: corruption, factionalism, material retrogression and disintegration—must triumph over the people.

The coordinated effort of these bodies must, however, first be directed to the control and reform of provincial government; and later reach out toward the more involved problems of national government. It is yet too early to call a conference for the solution of national questions. Let the delegates to Shanghai go home, disillusioned, but not disheartened, and begin to work, each in his respective province, for the increase and cooperation of the various class-organisations; and their self-assertion in local government. To work along lines of class-consciousness, or, if you please, guild socialism, is to work along psychological lines. Western ideas of democracy through popular representation based on the individual unit have got into a sorry mess in this country because they are out of harmony with the genius and psychology of the Chinese people and have for them no historical background. The greatest problem of Democracy, as of Christianity, in China, is psychological.

The predominant note of the decade which stretches ahead in Chinese history is to be the awakening of class-consciousness: that thing which Yuan Shih-k'ai and his medieval disciples have endeavored to suppress or corrupt. After seven years we are on the way to recovery from the evil done by Yuan and the misled Foreign Offices of the powers which supported his policy of paternalism. Over-paternalism, as always in the case of the bull-headed youth who is fretting to tear lose from the old hearth, proved a mistaken policy.

Now, Peking must decrease while the people increase. The only alternative is short-lived and hectic tyranny.

Panama Canal's Gains

Throughout the war and the period of readjustment the public has lost sight of the steadily increasing service of the Panama Canal. Despite the disappearance of German ships and the decline for a time of British trade, the traffic of the Canal has steadily increased. This development throws a new light upon the expansion of American trade, and the significant changes which are occurring in the world's trade routes.

The Canal was constructed at a cost of $370,000,000 which now seems insignificant in comparison with war expenditures. The investment is yielding dividends of many kinds far beyond expectations. The discussion of its commercial and military importance during its construction failed to include the possibility of a world war. The recent reports of the Government show that the Canal has played even a more important part in world affairs than its friends anticipated, especially in the expansion of American trade.

The most striking feature of the Canal's traffic is the wonderful regularity with which its volume has increased during the war, and in the troublesome years which have followed. There is great comfort in these figures for those who take a pessimistic view of America's oversea trade today and in the future. Many influences have acted to restrict the tonnage passing through the Canal for several years. The German merchant fleet suddenly disappeared from the seas. A large part of the British merchant fleet was diverted from commercial to war purposes. Much of the neutral shipping was diverted to profitable war trade in the Atlantic and Mediterranean. The west coast for a time naturally lost much of its European trade. The normal traffic of the Canal was further disturbed in many ways by the war.

In view of this unprecedented situation it is remarkable to find the traffic of the Canal steadily expanding, as is shown in the following table. The tonnage since 1915 was as follows:

	Long Tons
1915	4,894,134
1916	4,838,416
1917	7,427,686
1918	7,294,502
1919	7,468,167
1920	11,236,115
1921 (first 9 months)	7,912,732

It is significant that the Canal traffic nearly doubled on America's entering the war, and maintained this high average despite the disturbance of the world's shipping. The 'substantial increase in 1920, which was America's boom year in shipping, was to be expected but what may be said of the fact that this unprecedented rise should be maintained, as it has, throughout 1921 when America's export trade has suffered so severely?

The amount of cargo passing through the Canal to and from the principal trade regions shows at a glance where the Canal is most useful. During 1920 the tonnage was divided as follows:

	Long Tons
East coast of United States	6,273,05
West coast of South America	4,739,22
Europe	3,082,78
West coast of United States	2,177,60
Far East	1,955,40
Australasia	1,458,71

Before the opening of the Canal the United States was greatly handicapped in competing with Europe for trade in the Far East. The situation especially since 1914 has undergone a remarkable transformation. The tonnage passing through the Canal to the Far East and Australasia is today three times as great as it then was, and the advantage promises to bring about further expansion.

One of the most interesting developments of trade due to the Canal has been the expansion of the intercoastal traffic of the United States. The Pacific Coast has been quick to profit by the opportunity afforded by the Canal. During 1920 the cargoes eastward bound were 55 percent greater than the westbound traffic. This was largely due to the bulky nature of the products shipped from the Pacific Coast. With the increase of transcontinental railroad rates the sea route by way of the Canal is relatively cheap.

The sea routes have been making great effort to rival the time between the east and west coasts of the United States maintained by railroad service. Shipments of oranges and lemons have been sent from California ports to New York via the Panama Canal in nineteen days. The railroad is supposed to take two weeks for the trip, but the average is twenty days. A saving of 25 percent has thus been effected by the Canal. There has been a notable increase in such traffic of late. The Canal has besides been a great influence in developing trade between the ports of the west coast of the United States and Europe. The amount of cargo moving from the Pacific Coast to European ports by way of the Panama Canal is greater today than that destined for American Atlantic ports.

Sir Philip Gibbs On Soviet Russia

The famous English writer and editor of the Review of Reviews writes on Soviet Russia and its problems in The London Express as follows:

It is about three months since the Soviet Republic announced its new economic laws re-establishing the right of private trading, and to some extent, not yet clearly defined, of private property.

Lenin was the chief author and interpreter of this complete reversal of policy, and on October 19 the official newspapers reported a speech (of which I have a full copy) giving his explanation and apology of this revolution in ideas. It is an amazing and historic document, staggering in its candor and confession.

"There is no doubt," he says, "that we have suffered a terrible defeat on the economic front. Let us retreat and rebuild everything in a new way."

WORKING CLASS DESTROYED

He admits that the working classes of Russia outside the present population have been destroyed. "As fast as the great capitalistic industry was demolished, as fast as the factories stopped the proletariat disappeared, and without a proletariat there can be no Communism," he says. "If capitalism is restored, then will also be restored the proletariat class. There is only one thing possible for Russia—a general retreat on prepared positions to the old order of economic life."

He admits the ghastly mistake of trying to force Communism on a people not ready for it, because in their ignorance and illiteracy they had not even reached the proletariat stage, and he speaks bitter words about "the idealism, the chatter, the phrases which took the place of action and efficiency. We must turn our back on phrase-making, show actual results in restoring Russia to wealth, or the people will say 'You talk and do nothing. Go to the devil!'"

Then he spoke words which were afterwards suppressed in the reprinted speech, of which I have the first text. "If we fail now," he said—"If we work badly—we shall all go to the devil. They will hang the lot of us—and do splendidly. They ought to hang us if we fail to save them!"

LIVING ON PAPER

Everybody is now back on a money basis, whereas before the change wages were merely nominal and everybody lived, or failed to live on the daily ration doled out, with occasional supplies of clothes and elementary necessities of existence.

But what is the money? . . . I carried it about Russia in brown parcels, very bulky, a multimillionaire in roubles. I found it very useful for playing the game of poker with some American relief men, and as an innocent among the old and artful won 200,000 at a single sitting. With that I could have bought 3½lb. of butter, or a little less than 2lb. of tea.

For a million roubles in Moscow I could have bought a pair of boots, but, fainting at the thought, waited until I got my feet wet in Kazan and struck a bargain in the market place for 750,000 roubles. I entered Russia with 3,000,000 roubles, changed £20 for 6,000,000 more when I reached Moscow, and spent, all told, 42,000,000 roubles in Russia. But it was changing English money.

What of the people who live on Russian paper? How much do they get, and what can they buy with it? I made careful particular inquiries about this from all kinds of people, but could not get any standard of wages or earnings—for there is no standard, and even now I do not know how people live on this paper that comes to them.

BETTERED BY HARDSHIPS

In an apartment house of Moscow filled with little groups of intellectuals—professors, students, girl clerks, and so on—I met a lady of the old regime. She was lying ill in bed, but received me very graciously, and asked which of five languages I would like to speak. I chose French, and towards the end of a conversation in which I learnt all the tragedy of her life and guessed at all her courage during the years of Terror, asked how much she earned and just how she lived now that things have changed.

She earns 3,000 rouble a lesson for teaching her five languages. She averages six lessons a day. With this 18,000 roubles she can buy 4½lb. of bread, or one-third of a pound of butter, or 3oz. of tea, 4oz. of coffee or a little more than a pound of soap, or 60 cigarettes, or half a pair of stockings. She said, "I live on bread and tea, bread and tea, bread and tea" but in spite of this three-fold repetition she did not seem to me as though she would live very long.

Yet she was wonderfully brave in her philosophy, and told me that hardship had done good to the younger people in Russia, those of the old regime who had been too luxurious and too soft. "Now," she said, "they have learnt how to work and how to suffer."

In the University of Kazan the professors told me that they get 150,000 roubles a month, and some rations in the way of bread and tea, and looking at the rector of the university, an old gentleman, exactly like a Bismarck, with benevolent eyes, I saw by his trousers and boots that his salary does not stretch to elegance, and I felt greedy in my own top boots, so new and good, which I had bought for 750,000, or five months' pay of a great scholar.

SOVIET HARD UP

I met school teachers who have not been paid since September, Red Army officers who have not been paid for longer than that, and Red soldiers who told me that some of their comrades have to sell their boots because they cannot live on the reduced rations.

The truth is that the Soviet Government has not enough even of this paper money. The very printing presses have broken down under the strain. And there is very little reality behind the paper money, so that it depreciates in value, even now when its worthlessness seems to have reached its limit.

Their cash resources are believed to be from £10-12,000,000 in gold, with perhaps £2,000,000 in platinum and diamonds, apart from natural resources of forests and mines undeveloped and unworked. They have no revenue from foreign trade, and the taxation of the peasant on the moderate basis of 10 percent of produce which has been substituted for the requisition system, has only just begun, and is, of course, reduced by the widespread famine. So the people, free once more to establish private trading, struggle to chase this paper money, which becomes more worthless as the weeks pass.

MOSCOW SHOPPERS

Many shops have opened in Moscow. One cheery optimist, writing to an English newspaper, said that one street in this strange fantastic city reminds him of Regent-street, on a busy day, because of its luxury shops and smart crowd.

I saw those "luxury shops," where there were a few trinkets in the windows gathered together from private homes and hiding places, and the crowd of "smart" people. It depends on what you call smart. Of course, old sheepskins and fur caps, broken boots and goloshes, even rags, and threadbare pre-war clothes, may be worn with a certain smartness by men and women who were once of the bourgeoisie, and gypsies have their fashions.

In the whole of Moscow with over two million people I found only three or four restaurants. There may have been others, but I could not find them after long searching the city.

One of them was established by the wife of a famous engineer with her son, in partnership with an old friend and his daughter. They have brought out a few of their household goods saved from the wreckage of their former homes and by selling and "speculating" manage to buy sufficient provisions to stock the restaurant from day to day, making just enough profit to pay for their own food.

The simplest meal there costs, for two people, 120,000 roubles, but day after day I and another friend seemed the only customers except for a Red soldier or two, a Commissar, a student, a few women of the old bourgeoisie, who had a plate of soup, or a glass of coffee with a bun or two. There are not many people in Moscow even now who can pay 50,000 or 60,000 roubles for a meal.

Those are the actual facts at the present time. Russia is a bankrupt State with that great black belt of agony and death on the Volga, with an incalculable mass of misery in its length and breadth, with her people living from hand to mouth in their luckiest state, few with quite enough to eat though with enough to live, and with all life reduced to the great adventure of a struggle for elementary needs, except in the cases of Commissars and Soviet officials, who have first claim on supplies.

DAWN OF NEW HOPE

Yet though I have given these facts I do not want to paint the picture too darkly, or to be unfair even to the Soviet Republic. There are many people in Russia who are not unhappy, who are even happy now with new hope.

Since private trading has been resumed and private property allowed an enormous weight has been lifted from the spirit of the people. However hard, life is human again. The peasants outside the famine area are well to do, and believe in the future. A new bourgeoisie has arisen and will soon be firmly established.

At the opera and in the theaters one sees cheerful people, who enjoy themselves, and do not find life intolerable. Even among the intellectuals and the old gentility, there is a spirit of the front-line trenches. Some of them make a game of poverty, find it a great adventure, in spite of all agonies, fears and perils.

This strange life in Russia, close down to the naked realities, gypsylike in its rags and tatters, puts a spell on one, so that I vow I would like to stay with these peoples and see things through with them. I believe they will go through as a people, apart from that black belt on the Volga, where there will be no getting through for many.

The Soviet Government is still strong politically, and no soul I met sees any alternative to its rule, but it is so desperate for economic aid, so convinced of its own failure, that it is willing to yield any kind of concession, to agree to any kind of condition, save that of self-annihilation, to abandon the last remnants of its system, in order to restore the economic life of Russia and establish international credit.

Advertising In 1700

Writers of American history have frequently complained of the dearth of news regarding important events in the early newspapers published in the United States, especially in the papers of the Colonial period. This lack of news is to some extent compensated by the advertising columns, meagre, to be sure, as compared with the present day, but sufficiently comprehensive to give the patient seeker considerable instructive and curious information upon the personal life of the settlers who developed the political principles which eventually led to independence.

It took several years after the establishment of newspapers in America for advertising to become popular. John Campbell, the well known Postmaster of Boston, who in 1704 started The Boston News Letter, the first newspaper in America, had great difficulty in getting his townspeople to advertise their wares or their wants. More than once, during the early years of his weekly paper, he plainly told his readers that unless he met with better encouragement the paper would have to stop.

In New York City, William Bradford and Peter Zenger, whose editorial hostility contributed to the live gossip of the town, found it difficult to obtain a respectable number of advertisements and Benjamin Franklin for a time suffered from the same trouble. The first real change toward greater freedom in advertising is shown in The Pennsylvania Gazette, which Franklin bought from Samuel Keimer in 1729. It came to be the most powerful newspaper in the Colonies, and for many years prior to the Revolution its pages were abundantly filled with advertisements and frequently an extra sheet or two had to be printed to get them all in.

Notices of negroes for sale and rewards for bonded servants who had run away are numerous. In an issue of The New York Gazette, 1783, an advertisement called attention to "A likely negro girl, for town or country, has had the small pox; she is about 15 years old; as also to be sold sundry drugs and medicines by John Briggs over against the Meal Market in New York."

In Zenger's New York Journal of Aug. 26, 1734, 40s. reward is offered for the following individual:

"A negro man, known by the name of Johnsey, here in town, but writes his name Jonathan Stow, about 25 years of age, of short statute, bandy legs, blubber lip, yellow complexion, his hair is neither negro nor Indian, but between both and pretty long. He had on when he went away a home-spun jacket, a pair of trousers and a speckled shirt."

One morning in 1777 New Yorkers had this interesting item of information to read:

"A Negro Wench, Run-away Supposed to Flatbush on Long Island where she was lately purchased of Cornelius Van Der Veer, Jun., is about twenty-two years old, called Betty, can speak both Dutch and English, is of a stubborn disposition especially when she drinks spirituous liquors which she is sometimes too fond of; is a pretty stout wench but not tall, smooth faced and pretty black. Whoever harbors her will be prosecuted but such as give information to William Tongue, her owner in Hanover Square, shall receive £5 reward with thanks."

In 1773 Richard Morris advertises his ability as a Stay-Maker in Rivington's New York Gazetteer, saying that he "takes this method to return his sincere thanks to his friends and customers for their past favors and to acquaint them that he now has the newest fashions from the Queen's Stay-Maker in London, such as have not been made in these parts. He likewise makes all sorts of stays and jumps, plain and turned, for thick or thin ladies, at any distance, by sending their measure."

Under the heading of "Medicinal Swords," the following remarkable advertisements appeared in William Bradford's Gazette on March 11, 1734:

"Lately imported, a choice parcel of swords, the blades are old but the handles are made after the newest fashion; they may be worn indifferently by men, women and children without hurting themselves or any other person. The blades, by being placed in a certain mathematical position, have contracted such extraordinary virtue that they will even prevent the person who wears them from being poisoned."

An idea of the popular mode of fashionable hair dressing is found in a Mr. Brown's advertisement of 1794, whose shop was at 116 William Street. After mentioning that he is from London, he states that "he cuts and dresses ladies' hair in the newest style, has received an extensive assortment of purified human hair from London which he is making up into beautiful braids to represent the real hair; he also makes the elastic York cushion to fit the temples so close and natural it is impossible to observe it from the natural growth by the nicest eye, are put on in a moment and are so light as scarce to be felt on the head. Gentlemen's scalps for any necessary addition to the hair made on the most approved construction, same as in London."

An advertisement of Philip Livingston, a successful merchant in New York City prior to the Revolution, and who was a member of the Continental Congress and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, shows the wide variety of goods he offered for sale at his store "in the New Dock, near the Ferry Stairs," in 1768. Among the articles listed are linens, calico, chintz, ballandines, shakoons, tommies, duranis, fustians, felt hats, whitewash brushes, marble hearths beautifully variegated with different colors, refined loaf sugar, muscavado sugar, brass kettles for Indian trade, nails, window glass, brandy, Leyden cheese, Jamaica nutmegs, Bohea tea, Teneriffe wine, shoe and knee buckles, ginger and needles.

Improvements in the mail service are revealed by the following notice in The Pennsylvania Gazette of Feb. 1, 1755.

"It having been found very inconvenient to persons concerned in trade that the mail from Philadelphia to New England sets out but once a fortnight during the Winter season, this is to give notice that the New England mail will hereafter go once a week the year round, whereby correspondence may be carried on and business obtained to letters between Philadelphia and Boston in three weeks which used to require six weeks." This notice, which was evidently well received by merchants, was signed by the Postmaster General.

SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

1 Imperial Gallon covers about 130 square yards one coat.

ROBINSON HAYWOOD CLARK

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Cotton.—Spot Good Middlings Cotton in Liverpool is up 39 points this week to 10.70d. but the forward rates are only slightly higher: May 10.25d. and July 10.13d. In Bombay, prices have again advanced to Rs. 331 for F. G. Bengals, Rs. 364 for Fine Oomras and Rs. 428 for F. G. Broach. Prices in New York yesterday were 50 points down for Spot, which was quoted 18.20 cents, May was 17.69, July 17.09, October 16.69, December 16.54 and January 16.30 cents. The total amount of cotton imported from India to Japan during February was 13,000 bales bringing the total for this season to 607,000 bales. Stocks of cotton in Japan on February 20 were 520,600 bales and of yarn 30,000 bales.

Home Market.—Prices in Manchester are not quite so elastic as they were and the market there appears to be firming up owing to a better demand from all sides; the result is, that on this side dealers are anxious to buy what they refused to look at a few weeks ago but, of course, they have lost their opportunity. During January 35,541,000 square yards of Cotton fabrics were shipped to China and in February the shipments aggregated 23,947,000 square yards.

Local Market.—The first direct steamer for Newchwang leaves in a few days; she is reported to be taking 6,000 packages of yarn and piece goods of all kinds, a fair quantity of which will be locally made and Japanese goods. Japanese cloths are again much in evidence and in keen competition with British goods. According to last reports there were 50,400 packages valued at Yen 14,400,000 in stock in five of the principal godowns in Osaka and Kobe on February 28 against 55,425 pkgs., valued at Yen 16,619,000 on 14th idem. Japanese papers report the fact that many of the houses that closed down in China are re-opening their branches all over the country and are looking forward to doing good trade once more in both Imports and Exports.

Auctions.—43,850 pieces were sold this week and there was a better demand and improved prices for Greys, whilst White Shirtings were steady on the whole. Turkey Reds were not much wanted and were inclined to droop. Velvets averaged out, prices going both ways. Bleached Lawns were offered for the first time this season and began at reasonable prices. Fast Black Italians sold quite briskly and gave a little surprise, we imagine, and Venetians were about steady without any great change in values.

ROSENFELD REPORT

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows in their weekly cotton market report:

China Cotton.—Throughout this week the market displayed a steady tendency and closes at the net advance of Tls. 1.00 with a very firm undertone in the up-country buying markets. Whenever a recession took place, enough buying power appeared to absorb offerings and covering of contracts for short accounts. It is clearly evident at present that sentiment has become more divided and the active manipulation brought into play at times to depress prices, seem to indicate that opposition on the part of up-country holders has been aroused on the bull side and support required to bear the market has shown an absence of any natural weakness. In summing up the situation, we still contend that in looking at the question of supply and demand, the market points to a higher level of prices, unless the outlook should be changed materially by startling and untoward developments in regard to the world's industrial situation. As to the China staple, the near future hinges on the development in Mid-Americans and Indian cotton coupled with the attitude of up-country holders. The latter, for the present, seem determined to hold out for higher prices.

Meanwhile, as to the immediate future, it is quite likely that a slight reaction may take place, but we hardly think it will arouse any fresh bear speculative enthusiasm. We must not overlook the fact that Bears are not having a very pleasant experience to date in covering their short sales and are contenting with themselves with the hope that within the next three weeks the farmers will have to realise cash in order to defray expenses for their Ching-Ming holidays. With the chances that any bulge will bring out more liquidations in Spots and Futures, the fact remains that we have been running up against a phenomenally light movement of cotton from the interior markets and we are averse to advising our friends to follow decline of any consequences.

Yarn.—The market has been quite firm during the past week and prices advanced some three to four taels from last week's level. At the close the market seemed to be in favor of steady prices. Business done between mills and dealers are as follows:

Heng Foong Mill sold 1,000 bales Cloudy Stork 16's @ Tls. 147¼ April-May delivery.

Pao Yik Mill sold 1,000 bales Globe 20's @ Tls. 172.00 and 16's @ Tls. 152.00 March-April delivery.

Dah Foong Mill sold 300 bales Air-Ship 14's @ Tls. 150.00 Spot.

Ching Tai Mill sold 300 bales Hoong Fu 14's @ Tls. 148.00 Spot.

New business for export, some 6,000 to 7,000 bales in all of 20's, 16's, 14's and 10's has been recorded. Deliveries continue very good and the undertone of the market is very healthy.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

In their cotton market report, Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows:

China Cotton:—Our market during the past week showed a little more activity than has been the case for some time past, and outside of a fair volume of speculative transactions, spinners have contracted for considerable quantities both for their immediate and near future requirements, which circumstances naturally elevated prices to about Tls. 1.00 per picul higher than the level prevailing in the previous period.

Mid-Americans and Indians having on the whole continued steady during the week under review, the yarn market showing signs of gradual improvement, stocks of the local staple at this stage of the season, being gradually exhausted, have engendered the general sentiment in the trade that firmer markets may be looked forward to in the near future. Tone of the market Steady.

JUTE FABRICS

Mr. J. A. Fredericks states as follows in the jute fabrics circular:

Business in this line has been of insignificant dimensions—there being no demand for export. Small parcels of Heavy C's 2¼ lbs. Bluestripe changed hands @ Tls. 160, 163½ and 165 while at the moment of writing native dealers are asking Tls. 168 which is still about Tls. 10 below Calcutta prices. Greenstripe 2½ lbs. have been done @ Tls. 216 and 217 with practically no stocks left in Shanghai. Hessians have been @ Tls. 188.

Cakes For Simple Dessert

BY AMY WINTER

There are a number of wholesome cakes which make excellent desserts in an emergency. These cakes are not too rich for children to partake of and many may be eaten warm from the oven or may be steamed until hot enough to serve. Simple sauces may be served with the cakes, such as freshly made or bottled marshmallow whip, melted jelly, whipped cream, honey with chopped nuts in it or maple syrup with nuts and chopped raisins in it, caramel or chocolate sauce or a frothy, hard or boiled pudding sauce.

HOT SHORT CAKE

With a well-stocked preserve closet hot shortcakes, with preserved fruit fillings, served with whipped cream or hard sauce, are delicious possibilities for quick desserts. A hot apple sauce shortcake or one filled with thinly sliced oranges with spiced vanilla syrup or grated pineapple with hard sauce is each worth a trial. The shortcake itself should be made of biscuit dough and generously buttered when split open hot to fill.

DATE CAKE

Beat two eggs well, then add a half cupful of rich milk, one cupful of brown sugar, a scant half cupful of butter and one and a third cupfuls of sifted flour with three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Sift in a level teaspoonful of powdered ginger, half a teaspoonful each of nutmeg and mixed spice, and, last of all, a half pound of dates stoned and chopped fine. Beat all together thoroughly and pour into a buttered, square, shallow pan. Bake thirty-five minutes in a medium oven. Cut in squares and serve hot with whipped cream.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

France To Enforce Wiesbaden Treaty

(Chung Mei Service)

Paris, March 14.—The Petit Parisien notes that at the finance ministers' conference just closed rather happy results were obtained. The confused accounts that the Allied Governments during the past year had not been able to agree, have been dispelled, while another no less satisfactory accomplishment is that France's allies have abandoned the reservations which they held concerning the Wiesbaden agreement, which France will now be in a position to enforce without opposition.

The principal act of the conference is the decision that seems to have been reached in regard to the granting of loans to Germany, contracted in foreign countries, guaranted by customs receipts, mines or other equally solid pledges, which would give Germany the chance to fulfill her obligations under the Versailles treaty in the coming years without causing a further decrease in the value of the paper mark.

U. S. Attitude On German Payments Displeases French

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 16.—The feeling excited here by the American note to the Allied Finance Ministers is indicated by cartoon in the Figaro representating Germany pouring gold from a sack and an American soldier grabbing the gold and pushing back the figure of France. The words beneath the cartoon are: "Lafayette did not forsee this."

Spot bar silver was up ⅛d. and forward ¼d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 64¼ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 434½.

The only change in the official quotations here this morning was a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 68¾.

Our market opened uncertain, business in the early morning in Sterling being done at 3-3⅛ for April and May.

Gold Dollars at the same time were done at 70¾ for April. Later in the morning, however, the market firmed up, as high as 3-3½ being done for March Sterling, 3-3⅜ for April and 3-3¼ for May. Gold Dollars were done as high as 71⅜ for March and 71⅛ for April.

In the afternoon, rates again eased off somewhat, there being no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-3½ for March and 3-3⅛ for May-June. The best sellers of Gold Dollars at the close were offering 71¼ for March and 71 for forward delivery.

The Continent again sold silver in London yesterday and India bought. New York report their market as steady and quiet.
